

This half term our topic is based around how one person can change the world. Please choose one of these homework activities to complete to help enrich your learning. Be ready to share your homework in class in the last week of term. We will confirm the date for the topic showcase closer to the time.

Create a short chant, or song about helping others or helping the planet. You could clap it, record it or draw symbols to show the beats.

Create a portrait of someone who has changed the world. You could use paint, collage or another medium of your choice.

Use a computing tool to create a hero badge. It could have a picture of the hero, their name and a powerful word.

Design a machine that would help make the planet a better place. It could be something that cleans up the oceans or helps with friendships.

Make a 3D model of a bus and use it to tell the story of Rosa Parks. What would you have done if you were sitting on the bus?

Find out about someone who has changed the world. Write a couple of sentences about what they did and how they showed bravery.
